

SSC & ANZSOG PRESENT

Leadership for Change Agents

Exercising leadership at any level means bringing a fresh and dynamic perspective to issues and driving innovative reform. Contemporary leadership on volatile issues such as inequality, crime and social breakdown isn't about having 'the answer' but adapting to new situations through learning, experimentation and the engagement of the community itself. Good leadership increases our problem solving capacity for the challenges we currently face and for the future.

Paul Porteous is a thought-provoking leadership theorist and practitioner whose focus is not on heroic individuals but on collectively exploring innovative solutions to complex contemporary problems, regardless of your organisational level or sector. Please join Paul and the APO's Louise Marra in a timely and thought-provoking discussion of the leadership we need for the times we're in and the issues facing NZ.
